

3rd Annual Conference
Energy and Sustainability 2009
August 9th – 12th Newark, DE USA

This year's gathering is aimed at combining the science of a technical conference with the scope of a public discourse on social change. Channels of communication and awareness about energy and sustainability must be established and maintained between all sectors of society. Come share your research, present your ideas, learn from the experts, and learn from your peers. Come and be a part of the solution.
